Minister's Message

It gives us great pleasure to release the 1984 Saskatchewan Manufacturers' Guide.

The publication provides a comprehensive, easy-to-use listing of all Saskatchewan manufacturers -- who they are, what they produce, how they can be reached.

The guide has been updated and reprinted over the years, and has proved of invaluable assistance for purchasing officers in identifying Saskatchewan sources for manufactured products. It has also been a useful tool for company sales managers in pinpointing possible customers for their goods and services.

Just as important, trade officers have used the booklet for information on export products available from Saskatchewan manufacturers and processors.

This latest edition of the Saskatchewan Manufacturers' Guide will continue to serve these and many other uses. Should you require additional information about the manufacturing sector in our province, staff at the Department of Economic Development and Trade will be more than glad to be of help.

Eric Berntson
Minister
Economic Development and Trade

Introduction

The Saskatchewan Manufacturers' Guide is published as a convenient index to provincial manufacturers and related business, such as companies engaged in producing potash and coal.

The information is presented under four separate headings:

1. Alphabetical Index. The manufacturing firms in the province are listed alphabetically. The mailing address is given as well as a list of products, the size of the business and the name of a person(s) designated by the company for purchasing inquiries.

2. Product Index. Products manufactured in Saskatchewan are itemized alphabetically. Each product is followed by a list of the appropriate manufacturers' names. Mailing addresses and other details on each manufacturer may be obtained by referring to the alphabetical index.

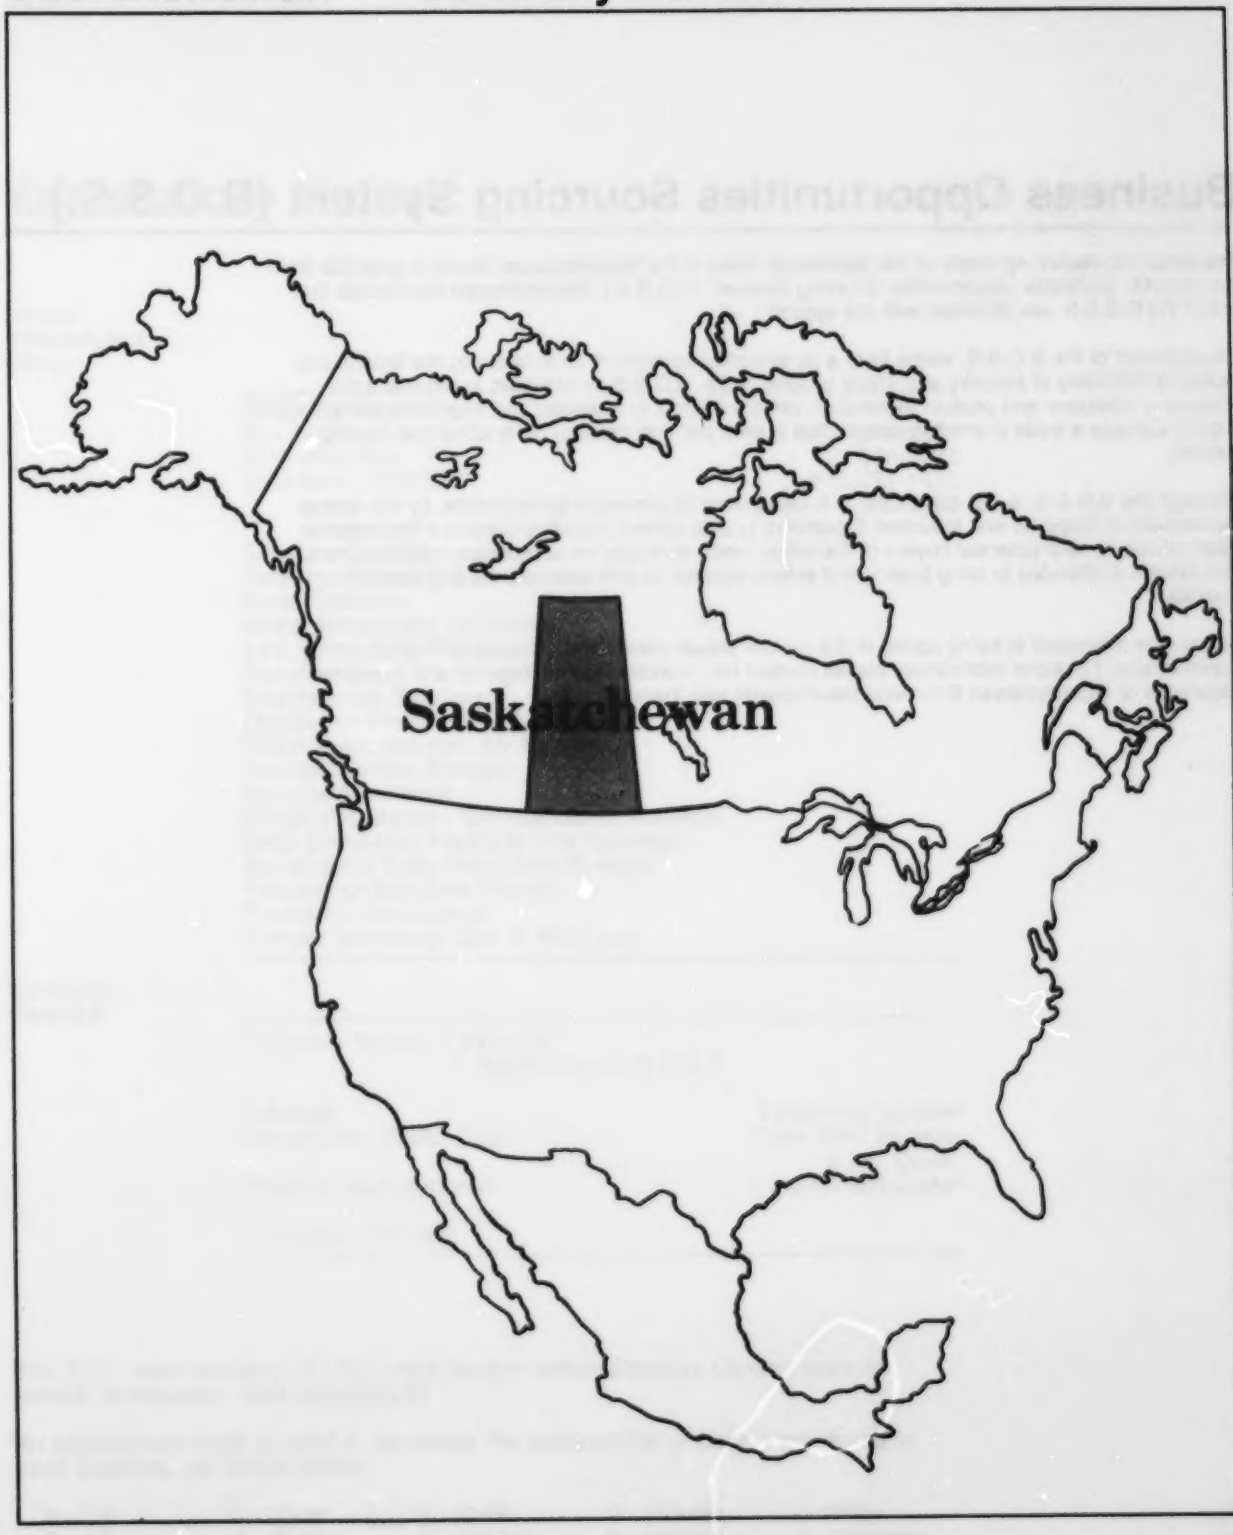
3. Standard Industrial Classification (S.I.C.) Index. Saskatchewan manufacturers are classified according to major industrial groups. The industry names and code numbers follow the 1980 Standard Industrial Classification system developed by Statistics Canada. Manufacturers in each industry group are listed alphabetically.

4. Location Index. Communities in Saskatchewan are shown in alphabetical order. Under each community is an alphabetical listing of the manufacturing companies located therein. Also given for each community are population and an indication of the availability of industrial sites. Additional details on manufacturers listed are available from the alphabetical index.

Information in the guide was obtained directly from each business, either by survey questionnaire or by telephone. Saskatchewan Economic Development & Trade gratefully acknowledges the co-operation of the businesses who supplied this information.

We regret any errors or omissions that may have occurred in compiling the guide. Please bring any corrections or clarifications to our attention by contacting Saskatchewan Economic Development & Trade, Bank of Montreal Building, 2103 - 11th Avenue, Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada, S4P 3V7, Attention "Manufacturers' Guide". A tear out card is also provided for your convenience to request additional copies, inclusion on our distribution list or in the next edition of the guide.

Saskatchewan — Centrally Located



Business Opportunities Sourcing System (B.O.S.S.)

Additional information on many of the businesses listed in the Manufacturers' Guide is available from the national "Business Opportunities Sourcing System" (B.O.S.S.). Saskatchewan businesses that are in the B.O.S.S. are identified with the symbol " + ".

Development of the B.O.S.S. stems from a co-operative agreement undertaken by the federal and provincial Ministers of Industry and Trade in June, 1978. B.O.S.S. is designed to provide rapid retrieval of company and product information using the latest in computer and microfiche technology. It gives Canada a trade promotion system that is on a par with those of other advanced trading nations.

Although the B.O.S.S. is still expanding, it is being used by provincial governments, by the federal Department of Regional and Industrial Expansion, and by others, including Canada's international trade offices, to help potential buyers of Canadian products locate the appropriate manufacturers. The system is intended to bring buyers and sellers together in both international and domestic markets.

Businesses interested in being added to the system should obtain and complete a B.O.S.S. questionnaire. For more information, please contact the nearest office of Regional and Industrial Expansion or Saskatchewan Economic Development and Trade.
